HOME AND FRIENDS.

Oh! there's a power to make each hour As sweet as Heaven designed it: Nor need we roam to bring it home, Though few there be that find it. We seek too high for things close by, And lose what nature found us; For life hath here no charms so dear, As home and friends around us.

We oft destroy the present joy For future hopes-and praise them; Whilst flowers as sweet bloom at our feet, If we'd but stoop to raise them? For things afar still sweetest are, When youth's bright snell bath bound us: But soon we're taught the earth has naught Like home and friends around us.

NOTES AND NOTIONS ABOUT FARMING, No. 3.

Our home and friends around us.

BY OLIVER TWEEDE. This notion of more practical economy in farming needs more than a passing notice more especially the more practical economizing of labor. Simply a passing glance at our State shows her capacity and necessity for condensing labor. Situated between two of the greatest marts of the world, she finds a ready market for all her productions. Yes, hungry thousands are always waiting for her grains, fruits and vegetables, and the demand is always greater than the supply, and the supply is not half so large as it might be Look at ber acres of bushland and swamps with his finger, and vanished, as it were, of the soil. It is true, New Jersey cannot boast so rich a soil as some other States, but she can produce fruits and vegetables equal to any of them. From his wife re-discussed the matter, and the situation of the State it should be one vast market garden. Every farm should be a garden in its productions and mode tory of the U. S., of which the following is a of culture; but this is too much of theory, perhaps, however, when we come to modes more pay-the higher the cultivation the higher the profits; and if our farming when he almost ran into the arms of a was done more in the style of kitchen young naval officer, precisely answering PAYS AS MUCH AS ANY ON 'EM!"-We of laborers - "hands," - this is shown by ness of getting in crops and harvesting, and in a thousand other ways; all this is from economizing labor. On farms thus directed, is often seen the overworked min and beast who must "lay by a few days" in the most busy season, thus entaling additional loss upon the economuzer. Many, I've no doubt, like myself, with a fixed stare, and a face gradually have heard farmers exclaiming, "If I'd becoming deadly pale. got through that field of corn once more with the plow and followed with a thorough loeing, I'd had a third more corn,'

I believe it pays better to have one hand nore than is really necessary to work afarm than to lack one of having sufficient,—when a farm hand, I worked on farus conducted in both ways, and drew my own conclusions at the time.-But inrightly distributing and directing labor on the farm the master mind is required; and in this does it show its true

eninency, for this is the art and science of agriculture. As a train of cars was approaching the suspension bridge, near Niagara, says the Albany Argus, the conductor found young man who could not pay his fare. he poor fellow was evidently in the last sages of consumption, and emaciated to seleton proportions. He sat by himself, ad his eyes were red as though he had ken weeping. But the laws of the com-any coulde not be transgressed and he just leave the train. Not a person movsparkling eyes, demanded the amount charged for the poor invalid. The conductor said eight dollars, and the young that the greater part of his father's estate and noble girl took that sum from her pocket book, and kindly led the sick his share was just sufficient to start him outh back to his sent. The action put to shame several men who had witnessed , and they offered to "pay balf," but the whole souled woman indignantly refused lic assistance. When the train arrived in this city the young protectress gave the invalid money to keep him over hight, and send him to his friends next

It was at length offered for sale, and much to the surprise of those who knew its value passed into the hands of a wealthy merchant. Delighted with his bargain the merchant cheerfully expended a considerable sum in further improvements and repairs, and rented the place to his brother and family; which consisted of wife, son, and two grown daughters. As an independent loyal journalist it is incumbest that we should, at all times, take comprehensive views of our national status unbiased by any political partisan considerations. more manageable form were seen in different strong reasons why the nomination of Judge stages of the discase and resulted favorably. William Moore is a safe one. Reared in the school of practical and experimental philoso pby, he is emphatically a working man, and cannot be seduced from a straight line of unusual prevalence of other muladica, except occasionally Dysentery, and the usual diseases occasionally Dysentery, and the usual diseases conscientious duty by any offer of gain or incident to the season, through which we have inst passed.

conscientious duty by any offer of gain or attempt at bribery. Blended with these characteristics, Judge Moore possesses another trait equally commendable. Unassuming and courteous, he has won his way to honorable distinction; and thus secured the respect and esteem of those with whom he has come in contact, both socially and politically. Where such vital principles are at stake, as in the present contest, it is incumbent upon every true lover of the Union, upon every one who is unwilling to see blood-stained and gory-handed rebels allowed to take their seats in Con-Greenwich, a prominent physician of Cumberland County, and a surgeon in the American Army in the war of the Revolution. He fell a martyr to the practice of his profession, which was too extensive and ishorious for his constitution. gress unpurged of treason, to holdly decide at the ballot-box, on the sixth day of November that such things shall not be. This consuma-tion can only be achieved by voting for the entire Union Republican ticket. Judge Moore tice of his profession, which was too extensive and laborious for his constitution.

Dr Wm. Belford Ewing was own in Greenwich, December 12th, 1776. He was only six years old when his father died. His education, however, was not neglected. After pursuing the usual course of preliminary studies he entered the junior class of the College at Princeton and graduated in 1794.—Having chosen the Practice of Medicine as a profession he pursued his medical studies under the direction of Dr. Nicholas Belliville of Trenton, New Jorgey, and attended medical lectures in the University is now the representative of our principles, and our principles are embraced in the Congressional Amendment to the Constitution. All personal feelings should, therefore, be laid aside; individual disappointments ought not to bear the weight of a feather in the scale of duty. For the last eight years our District has been ably and satisfactorily represented in Congress. Hon John T. Nixon and Hon. John F. Starr have exhibited an impervious wall against which the arrows and shafts of tresson and traitors have been hurled without effect, and we are satisfied that Judge Moore will present an equally impenetrable barrier. This is that which the nation needs-men who will not tamper with treason, or tolerate unrepentant traitors. The record and principles of Judge Moore amply assures us that he will elected President of the Medical Society of New Jersey in 1824.

Dr. Ewing in addition to his professional buisness served his country in several important civil offices. For twenty-one years he was a member of the Board of Chosen Fresholders; from the year 1819 to 1832 with the exception of two years he was a member of the Legislature of New Jersey. He was a Judge of the Court, and for a time its presiding officer. In the year 1844 he was elected a delegate to the State Convention for forming a new Constitution.

He was for many years a member of the Presbyterian Church at Greenwich; from the year 1836 till his death a ruling Elder of the church, and for fifty-three years a Trustee of the congregation.

For several years previous to his death he was so feeble as to be disqualified for any kind of buisness, and the formation of cataracts in both eyes deprived him of sight. During these years of feebleness and darkness he was sustained and cheered by the affectionate attentions of his family and friends, and ownooled by that religion which can sustain those who profees it under the heavisst calamities, and when all other sources of comfort fail. The sun of his long life had a calm and serene setting. He died in the faith and hope of the Geopel on the 23d day of April, be true as the needle to the pole in this respect. Every interest of the Republican party, every demand of the loyal North, will be safe in his hands. Judge Moore in Atlantic county is particularly esteemed as one of the most influential citizens of that section. Warm in his attachments and friendships, and firmlin his loyalty to the Government and the nation at large, he has long been one of the most active members of the great Republican Party In his county, Old Corn, and has wielded an influence decidedly autagonistic to the dogmas of the Democratic anti-Union organization. Widely and popularly known in all the counties of the First District as a gentlemen of unblomished reputation and eminent executive ability, he cannot fail to receive a support outside of his own party much larger than any other gentleman who could have been nominated. While manager of the extensive Iron Manufactories at Wey-mouth he exhibited those traits of character which rendered him at once a great favorite with his workmen and all others who had any dealings with him, and established his buisnes qualifications beyond the possibility of doubt Since that period he has exhibited commendable energy and zeal in advancing other interests wilcox of this city. THRESHED SUMAC WANTED

This is an article for washing without rubbing, except in very dirty places, which will require a very slight rub, ahd unlike other preparations offered for a like purpose, while not not the ecornes, but will leave them much whiter than ordinary methods, without the usual wear and tear.

It removes grease spots as if ty magic, and softens the dirt by soaking, so that rinsing will in ordinary cases entirely remove it.

This powder is prepared in accordance with chemical science, and upon a process peculiar to uself, which is secured by Letters Patent. It has been in use for more than a year, and has proved uself an universal favorite wherever it has been used. Among the advantages claimed are the following, viz.—

It saves all the expense of soap usually used on cotton sud linen goods. otton and linen goods.
It saves most of the labor of rubbing, and wear and ar. Also, for cleaning windows it is unsurpassed.—

Also, for cleaning windows it is instituted with one quarter the time and labor usually required, timparts a beautiful gloss and lustre, much superior o any other mode. No water required except to noisten the powder.

RIDGWAY HOUSE," N. W. Cor. Market St. and Delaware Avenue. PHILADELPHIA. This well known establishment has been thoroughly RENOVATED AND IMPROVED in accordance with the progress of the time, and in its refitting and furnishing, together with the convenience of its new arrangements, will compare favorably with any brest class hotel in the city.

Its location is admirably adapted to the necessity and comfort of the business community, as it is in the immediate vicinity of Steambout Landings of Archand Chestnut streets, the Camden ferries, and the immediate vicinity of Steamboat Landings of Arch and Chestnut streets, the Camden ferries, and the depot of the West Jetzeey Railroad Co.;—at the same time it affords a delightful prospect of the Delaware river and Jersey shore.

The sleeping apartments of this establishment are he most thoroughly ventilated of any in the city. The table, as heretofore, will always abound with the best the market affords.

The victualing and liquer bars have been entirely altered and improved, and will be supplied with everything to suit the public palate.

The subscriber respectfully invites the attention of visitors to the city to his establishment, feeling that personal inspection will justify all he claims as to its superior advantages.

Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer has proved itself to be the most perfect preparation for the Hair ever offered to the public.

It is a vegetable compound, and contains no injurious properties whatever.

It is not a Dyo, it strikes at the roots and fills the glands with new life and coloring matter.

It will restore Gray Hair to its original color.

It will keep the hair from falling out.

It cleanses the scalp, and makes the hair soft, lustrous and silken. House and Lot for Sale. THE subscriber offers at private sale a new Double House and Lot, situated in West Bridgeton.
