Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer

Has stood the test of seven years before the public; and no prepara-tion for the hair has yet been dis-covered that will produce the same beneficial results. It is an entirely new scientific discovery, combining many of the most powerful and restorative agents in the VEGETABLE KINGDOM. It restores GRAY HAIR TO ITS ORIGINAL YOUTHFUL COLOR. It makes the scalp white and clean; cures dandruff and humors, and falling out of the hair; and will make it grow upon bald heads, except in very aged bald heads, except in very aged persons, as it furnishes the nutritive principle by which the hair is nourished and supported. It makes the hair moist, soft, and glossy, and is unsurpassed as a HAIR DRESSING. It is the cheapest preparation ever offered to the public, as one bottle will accomplish move and last longer than three more and last longer than three bottles of any other preparation. It is recommended and used by he First Medical Authority.
The wonderful results produced your Sicilian Hair Renewer have induced many to manufacture preparations for the Hair, under various names; and, in order to induce the trade and the public to purchase their compounds, they have resorted to falsehood, by claiming they were former partners, or had some connection with our Mr. Hall, and their preparation was similar to ours. To not tion was similar to ours. Do not be deceived by them. Purchase the original: it has never yet been equalled. Our Treatise on the Hair, with certificates, sent free by mail. See that each bottle has our private Revenue Stamp over the top of the bottle. All others are imitations. R. P. Hall & Co., Prop's, Nashua, N. H.

PHOSPHATE

Made Upon Strictly Scientific Principles.

This article is entirely different from any other ever offered io the public. Its composition will vary, and contain such ingredients only as the tree, fruit, plant or crop for which it is intended requires, thereby enabling the buyer to avoid purchasing a large quantity of what he really does want, in order to get a sin ill quantity of what he really does want, which I know, from experience, is true with many, if not all of the phosphates that are in the market. No fertilizer can be good and cheap at the same price, for two crops whose constituents are entirely different; it may be good for both, but must be dear for one or the other. For example, if a phosphate should contain ingredients that would be cheap for wheat, at any given price, it is absurd to think that the same phosphate would be equally cheap, at the same price, for another crop, whose constituents are entirely different. It cannot contain ingredients for two articles of an entirely different nature in such proportions as to be equally cheap for one as the other. I am consident that there is a great deal of money thrown away for phosphates of different kinds, from the fact that they did not contain what the desired crop needed; and in many cases the crop would have been better without it at all, while if the same article had been used for other crops, of a different nature, it would have doubly paid for its cost. I have been carefully experimenting for several years, and any one who will take the trouble to visit my farm, near Ellisburg, N. J., five miles from Camden, where I am constantly, experimenting, may see where I produce a growth adon Peach and Pear trees of six FEET six inches in one season, and iroù upon the same, usually large and fine while trees right alongside, equally good in every respect, not having the phosphate on them, did not grow one foot in the same time, and produced no fruit at all. I will be prepared to furnish, at short notice, a phosphate for any kind of fruit, vine or tree fuit, spld all ordinary plants or erops that (for if one woman knows, will not all men know !) tha (for if one woman knows, will not all men know l) the not only the largest stock, but the best and mos varied assortment of Books, Stationery, book is the very best companion a person can have. The influence of a good book can be scarcely estimated. It is the silent teacher of generation after generation, for ages, perhaps, after the hand which penned it has mouldered into the dust. In this age, when every one reads, and multitudes of bad books, calculated to corrupt the minds of the youth, are continually sent forth, it is more than ever necessary that good ones should be written and read .-If parents would save their children from the procure a supply of good and useful books, elsewhere for the same money.

Many a good-hearted, promising youth has become a nad man, merely because he found nothing at home to fill up his time pleasantly. If he could have had an interesting volume at hand, when the evening lamp was lighted, his habit of spending his evenings away from home would never have been formed; and it is this habit which leads our boys and young men into a great deal of evil. The highest praise we can bestow on a man, is to say, "he is a home man," or "he love his home." This implies the possession of those virtues which makes home the happiest place on earth. The influence of the right sort of reading is but one of the many influences, which should

AN OLD STORY.

Many years ago, a celebrated Italian artist was walking along the streets of his native city, perplexed and desponding, in consequence of some irritating circumstance or misfortune, when he beheld a little boy of such surpassing beauty that he forgot his own trouble and gloom in looking upon the almost angel face before

The little boy was glad to go and see the pictures, and pencils, and curious things in the artist's room; and ne was still more pleased when he saw what seemed to be another boy looking just like himself smiling from the artist's can-

The artist took a great deal of pleasure in looking at that sweet, innocent face.-When he was troubled, or irritated, or perplexed, he lifted his eyes to that lovey image on the wall, and its beautiful, hopeful features and expression calmed that his coming home intoxicated was Many a visitor to his studio wished to once had a babe, a sweet lovely pane; but these hands destroyed it, and now it lives him in vain to sign the pledge. "Why, with Him who loved the little ones. Do not spurn me, my friends," continued the a while, but I don't like to break right good angel, as he called this portrait.

> canvas, he wondered what had become of that boy. "How I should like to see how he looks now! I wonder if I should know him? Is he a good man and true, or wicked and abandoned? Or has he died and gone to a better land?"

One day the artist was strolling down one of the fine walks of the city, when he beheld a young man whose face and mien were so vicious, so depraved, so almost fiend-like, that he involuntarily stopped and gazed at him. "What a spectacle! I should like to paint that figure, and hang it in my studio, opposite the angel boy," said the art-The young man asked the painter for "Come to my room and let me paint your portrait and I will give you all you ask," said the artist. The young man followed the painter, and sat for a sketch. When it was finished, and he had received a few coins for his trouble, he turned to go; but his eye rested upon the picture of the boy; he looked at it, turned pale, and then burst into tears. "What troubles you, man?" said the painter. It was long before the young man could speak : he sobbed aloud and seemed pierced with agony. At last he pointed up to the picture on the wall, and in broken tones which seemed to come from a broken heart, said: "Twenty years ago, you asked me to come up here and sit for a picture, and that angel face is the portrait. Behold me now, a ruined man : so bloated, so hideous, that women and children turn away their faces from me; so fiend-like that you wanted my picture to show how ugly a man could look. Ah! I see now what vice and crime have done for me." The artist was amazed. He could scarcely believe his own eyes and ears .-"How did this happen?" he asked. The young man then told him his sad and dreadful tale; how, being an only

I'm the boy for that and spoiled him; how he went with bad boys, learned all their bad habits and vices and came to love them; how, having plenty of money, he was enticed to wicked places till all was lost, and then, unable to work and ashamed to beg, he began the werst oriminals; came out still more depraved to commit worse crimes than before; how every bad deed he performed seemed to drive him to commit a worse one, till it seemed to him that he could not stop till brought to the gallows.

It was a fearful tale, and brought tears into the artist's eyes. He besought the young man to stop, offered to help him, dissipation, soon prostrated the young man, and he died before he could reform. The painter hung his portrait opposite that of the beautiful hoy; and when visitors asked him why he allowed such a hideous looking face to be there, he told them the story, saying as he closed, "Between the angel and the demon there is only twenty years of vice." The lesson of this tale is in the tale itself. You who read it can tell what it is. Think of it often, and heed it always.

CONGRESS AND THE PRESIDENT. The antagonisms between the plans laid down by Congress, and the practical course of President Johnson, becomes proving beyond all kinds of contradiction, the broader and more fully defined each passing day. The supplemental Congressional bill left no room for misconstruction. and the course of the President since that time leaves no doubt upon his determination to override it. The plain point at which all difference commences, and from which it radiates, lies in the claims the South. This controversy began when the President issue his first proclamation organizing the South into provisional governments, which legislation the Congress subsequently overturned. to to be a Congressional right, and the President's power in the matter, expressthe Mr. Johnson, and as this issue is about its oppressive characteristics-demamade upon ground well understood by gogues may endeavor to excite feelings of anboth parties, it is not likely that the Conin November. This would reduce their value to nearly the standard of Continental currency, and in fact render them nearly worthless. We talk of high prices now, but in a case like this, proposed by these wise expounders of financial honesty and law, the prices must naturally rise six times as high, and it is impossible to foresce how a universal bankruptcy could be prevented. But the people are taking the matter into their own hands, and have risen in masses to demand the unification of their country, under one ruler, with Rome for the capital. Garibaldi leads the movement, and was arrested on account of the position he assumed. The government, however, dared not hold him, and he was released. His son commands the insurgents, and they have beaten the Papal troops in two successive battles. Already they outnumber the government forces very largely. and nearly the entire Italian sentiment is on their side. If Louis Napoleon does not interfere, the expulsion of the Pope, as a temporal ruler, is assured. That he will not interfere is likely, as the Mexican imbroglio satisfied him, for the time, with that sort of work. It will then remain an open question whether the Holy See will remain at Rome, or be transferred to this country. The preparations of that denomination, for the last few years, have looked toward this result, though possibly it may not be so intended. Should that church centralize its operations in this country, there is danger ahead for us. In New York state, in the past twenty years, they have obtained, direct from the Legislature, money to the amount of between three and four millions of dollars, and their institutions of learning are largely supported by the Protestant money, which corupt legislators vote oway. > The following interesting statistics we gather from the quarterly returns, made, we believe, under eath, by the several manufacturers of sewing machines throughout the United States. The figures which we present, and which we have been at some panus to collect, show at a glance the wonderful growth and great importance of this branch of American manufactures. It will be observed that one company alone has produced and sold within the year over forty-three thousand machines. It is somewhat remarkable that, during the recent stagnation in trade, this business has been but slightly, if at all, affected. But below are the figures in detail.

The foregoing facts and figures we find in the Firancial Chronics of the seventh instant. About a year or so ago. as our readers will remember, we published a seriesof articles descriptive of some of the great manufacturing interests a this country. We then selected and described the immense establishment of the Singer Manufacturing Company, located in this attraction. in this city, as the representative and leading concerning the department of sewing-machines, and ware now pleased to find that we did not in the leading to the control of either gold medals or red ribbons, and whose name is rarely seen in print, should, nevertheless, eclipse all other sewing machine concerns in the magnitude of their business. There is, of course, a reason for all this, but we leave our readers to find that out for themselves.—Home Journal.

To this we need only add that the agent for this justly celebrated Sewing Machine, is our enterprising friend, B. F. Horner, at the news agency, corner of Commerce and Pearl streets, Bridgeton, N.J.

GEORGE C. TOWNSEND,
BOWELL GRACK HOUSE Jr. FEATHER RENOVATOR.

RICHARD B. FITHIAN Having purchased the right for the use of O. J. Pennell's Patent Feather Renovator,
Is now prepared to renovate beds in a most satisfactory manner. It has been acknowledged to be one of the most successful Patents in the country, It is now in operation in Burlington, Mercer and Cumberland counties, and is giving general satisfaction. We venture to predict that it never will be excelled, for it proves to be exactly what all conditions and qualities of feathers, from entirely new, to old and much worn, need to render them as perfect as age, quality and condition will admit of their being made.

The cleansing is done entirely by steam. By this process all moths are destroyed, the feathers cleansed, the fibres relieved from their matted position, giving to a bed an astonishing increase in bulk, often more than one half; also removing all disagreeable seent, which is so common to new feathers, and relieving them from all liability to moths, by the removal of all gummy and glutinous matter from the quill.

THE RENOVATOR CAN BESEEN IN OPERATION In the Stone Building, corner of Broad and Atlantic O. J. Pennell's Patent Feather Renovator, In the Stone Building, corner of Broad and Atlantic

Facts for the People! FOR BARGAINS IN CLOTHING, ALL SHOULD GO TO C. C. GROSSCUP & CO'S,

where you will find the largest and best assorted stock of goods in West Jersey; and the large business done by us enables us to sell at less than ordinary prices. Speaking of the large amount of business, we will not merely ask the public to take our word for this, as by consulting the Revenue Assessor's books all may know that our firm pays by far the largest manufacturers' tax of any Clothing house in this State south of Trenton. In fact, some months our returns are more than all other Clothing establishments in

Bridgeton and Salem combined. This is no blowing, but facts which any one who wishes can prove by examining the records referred to. So the fact so well understood that this establish-BEST AND CHEAPEST GOODS in West Jersey, need remain ro longer a mystery to the public, as the above facts will be sufficient to prove to all that the large amount of business done really enables us to defy all competition. Remember the place is 510 MARKET STREET, Second Clothing Store above Fifth. THE SPIRIT MAKE THE MAN. By our National Poet, Dr. George Allen Spangler A youth devoid of spirit bold, None of life's beauties to unfold, Is like a being chained to earth— To friends or solf of little worth. Not only to himself a blahk, Left with the idle for to rank, The bane of every one he knew, The boy of downcast look and hue. 'Tis mostly caused in boyhood's hour, Which, in the bud, makes spirit cower, Attempts to sway by domineering--A vain attempt at children's rearing.

Or making them go shabby dressed, Spurned by the good you'll find them pressed, While envying other lads well clad, The lost companions of the bad. So, if you would advance your sons, Go rig them out at Henderson's: Their downcast spirits he'll uplift, In Market street, sixth house from Fifth. EDWARD HENDERSON, Proprietor.
