PHOSPHATE Made Upon Strictly Scientific Principles.

This article is entirely different from any other ever offered to the public. Its composition will vary, and contain such ingredients only as a e tree, fruit, plant or continuation ingredients only as the tree, truit, plant or crop for which it is intended requires, thereby enabling the binyer thavoid purchasing a large quantity of what he really does not want, in order to get a small quantity of what he really does want, which I know, from experience, is true with many, if not all of the phosphat a that are in the market. No fertilizer can be good and cheap at the same price, for two crops whose constitu perience, is true with many, if not all of the phosphates that are in the market. No fertilizer can be good and cheap at the same price, for two crops whose constituents are entirely different; it may be good for both, but must be dear for one or the other. For example, if a phosphate should contain ingredients that would be cheap for wheat, at any given price, it is absurd to think that the same phosphate would be equally cheap, at the same price, for another crop, whose constituents are entirely different. It cannot contain ingredients for two articles of an entirely different nature in such proportions as to be equally cheap for one as the other. I am confident that there is a great deal of money thrown away for phosphates of different kinds, from the fact that they did not contain what the desired crop needed and in many cases the crop would have been better without it all, while if the same article had been used for other crops, of a different nature it would have doubly paid for its cost. I have been carefully experimenting for several years, and any one who will take the trouble to visit my farm, near Ellisburg, N. J., five miles from Camden, where I am constantly experimenting, may see where I produce a growth udon Peach and Pear trees of six FEET six INCHES in one season, and ruit upon the same, usually large and fine while trees right alongside, equally good in every respect, not having the phosphate on them, did not grow one foot in the same time, and produced no fruit at all. I will be prepared to furnish, at short notice, a phosphate for any kind of fruit, vine or tree fruit, and all ordinary plants or crops that are grown in this country, such as wheat, rye, corn, grass, and all kinds of vegetables.

The reader will please bear in mind that in sending orders, the article for which it is intended to be used must be mentioned, and kind of soil also, if you wish the worth of your money. As I have said before, two articles of an entirely different nature must not be furnished with the same kind of foo nd viceversa.

I refer, sir, to the immoderate use of tobacco in its various forms. In making the visit referred to, it was necessary for me to take a train of cars at a station about half way between the two ends of that route, entering a passenger car I found only about one half of the seats occupied, and at the first glance supposed I should have no trouble in getting a pleasant seat. Passing along to an unoccupied seat, I was going to appropriate it to my use, when lo! I beheld a pool of tebacco juice on the floor of each setting. I passed on to the next, and the same thing greeted my eyes, and to the next, and after several trials succeeded in finding one seat without this objection; but about that," but I was doomed to disapthe weed. GIVING JOY TO A CHILD.

Does not almost everybody remember some kind-hearted man who showed him a kindness in the dullest days of his childhood? The writer of this recollects himself at this moment, as a barefooted lad, standing at the wooden fence of a poor little garden in his native village, while with longing eyes he gazed on the flowers which were blooming there quietly in the brightness of a Sunday morning. The possessor came forth from his little cotage; he was a wood-cutter by trade, and spent the whole week at work in the woods. He had come into the garden to gather flowers to stick into his coat when he went to church. He saw the boy, and breaking off the most beautiful of his

And now here, at a vast distance from that home, after so many events of so many years, the feeling of gratitude which agitated the breast of that boy expresses itself on paper .-The carnation has long since whithered, but now it blooms again.

At Forest Grove, near Vineland, "Lodge" of Free Masons was instituted on Tuesday evening of the present week. A commodious and handsome brick building has been erected, of which the lower part is to be used for a school room and place of worship, and the upper as a room for the meeting of the Lodge. The officers were installed by Mr. Stevens, of the Camden Bank, Captain DeLacour of the same place, and others. Addresses were made by Mr. Warriner, the master of the Lodge, Rev. Messrs. Ballard, Morris and others, and a grand supper was enjoyed by the guests present. The address of the installing officer was a fine production, and like the other speeches of the occasion, insisted upon all good masons recognizing religion as the highest element of life. The enterprise is largely due to Mr. Robert C. Parvin, of that place.

By our National Poet, Dr. George Allen Spangler A youth devoid of spirit bold, None of life's beauties to unfold, Is like a being chained to earth— To friends or self of little worth.

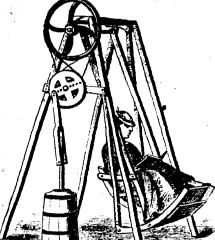

'Tis mostly caused in boyhood's hour, Which, in the bud, makes spirit cower, Attempts to sway by domineering.-A vain attempt at children's rearing. Or making them go shabby dressed, Spurned by the good you'll find them pressed, While envying other lads well clad, The lost companions of the bad. So, if you would advance your sons,
