FROM HON. GEO W. WOODWARD, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania PHILADELPHIA, MARCH 16th, 1867.

I find "Hoofland's Germun Bitlers" is not a vintomicating beverage, but is a good tonic, useful in disorders of the digestive organs, and of great benefit in cases of debility and want of nervous action in the system.

Yours truly,

GEO. W. WOOD WARD. PHILADELPHIA, MARCH 16th, 1967.

From REV. JOSEPH H. KENNARD, D.D., Pastor of the Tonth Baptist Church, Philadelphia. Pastor of the Tonth Baptist Church, Philadelphia.

DR. JACKSON—DERE SIX:—I have been frequently requested to connect my name with recommendations of different kinds of medicines, but regarding the practice as out of my appropriate sphere, I have in all cases declined; but with a clear proof in various instances, and particularly in my own family, of the usefulness of Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters, I depart for once from my usual course, to express my full conviction that for general debility of the system, and especially for Liver Complaint, it is a safe and valuable preparation. In some cases it may full; but usually, I doubt not, it will be very beneficial to those who suffer from the above causes.

Towns, very respectfully,

Tours, very respectfully,

J. H. KENNARD, Price of the Ritters, $1.00 per bottle; Or, a half dozen for $5.00. Price of the Tonic, $1.50 per bottle;

Recollect that it is Dr. Honfland's German Remedies that are so universally used and so highly recommended; and do not allow the Druggist to induce you to take any thing else that he may say is just as good, because he makes a larger profit on it. These Remedies will be sent by express to any locality upon application to the PRINCIPAL OFFICE, and many cases identical, and in other instances berso strong a resemblance that the principles of ederal pathology may be considered as equally appliable to both.

AT THE GERMAN MEDICINE STORE.

CHAS. M. EVANS, Proprietor Formerly C. M. JACKSON & CO. These Remedies are for sale by Druggists, Storekeepers, and Medi-eine Dealers everywhere.

The Increas of Disease Among Donestic Animals.

the medical faculty are generally agreed that, in th himse race diseases originate largely from the arficul habits of civilized society, which, although many if them really conduce to health, as cleanliness, the possible principle of traditions of the possible principle.

The quagregation of people in large cities, high schoned food, artificial stimulants, sedentary habits, etc., are fruitful causes of disease. Among the very por phabitants of large towns, the want of proper textures light and fruit, adds to the catalogue of "illiging the light and fruitful causes of the catalogue of "illiging the light and fruitful and fruit The examine the mode of feeding, stabling, and redng cattle, we shall find some of the same and of disease in their improper management.

These causes are well recognize aming breeders, and we shall therefore not dwe app them. Our object is to call attention to a fa ior Not that over-cultivation is the direct cause isase, but that the constitutions of the plants i queion have become so weakened by it that they have thus been rendered succeptible to causes which othrwise would be resisted.

The practice of breeding stock in order to develop parcular qualities, is, we believe, fraught with darer beyond a certain point. It is all very well to have horses that can trot in 2:00; hens that lay but wilhouset; sheep that will furnish a large fleece of a dered quality, or cows that yield thirty pounds of maily per diem, if these qualities can be obtained within the risk of initiating diseases that rage in disaminately among, and ravage our flocks and hers, destroying alike good and bad. We do not believ that this result of the inter-breeding, so much in igue among our most celebrated breeders, has attreted sufficient attention, or that the constitution peculiarities and idiosyncracies of highly bred animals have been sufficiently observed. Now that the itention of the world is attracted to the epidemys and contagions that are making such havoe; raising the price of food and rendering people suspicion of its effect upon the health of mankind the point demands immediate and thorough investigation.

A DICTIONARY WORD. "Jhn," said a master tanner in South Durham to one if his men. "bring in some lue!"

Jon walked off, revolving the word in his mind, andteturned with a pitchfork.
"don't wast this," said the wondering tanner, "I wait fuel. John."
"leg your pardon," replied the man, "I thought youwanted something to turn over the skins."

Ald off he went again, not a whit wiser, but ashimed to confess his ignorance. Much meditating he ext pitched upon the besom, shouldering which he riturned to the counting-house. His master was in apassion.

n apassion. "Vhat a stupid ass you are, John!" he exclaimed "I want some sticks and shavings to light the fire."

"that a some sticks and shavings to light the fire."

"this prejoined the rustic, "that's what you want, is it. Why couldn't you say so at first, mester, instead of using a London dictionary word?"

Ald to show that he was not alone in his ignorance, he called a comrade to the tanner's presence, and saked him if he knew what fuel was.

"At!" answered her tightle and recovered side. "Ay!" answered Joe, "ducks and geose, and sich like!"

Remarkable as it may seem, it is a fact that the Southern planters this year will own more of what they do raise than ever perhaps before. Heretofore, the cotton and corn standing in Southern fields have generally been the property of bankers, brokers, or Northern capitalists, who had advanced money on it. With all their apparent wealth and show of prosperity, the planters, under the old assense, were as a rule impecunious. To-day it seems they are beginning to owe their own crops, which they will find in the end as profitable as owning black men. This is another of the results of freedom.

Dr Stopping at a village inn, there came a thunder storm, and Captain Hall, surprised that a new country should have reached such a perfection in these meteorologic manufactures, said to a bystander these meteorologic manufactures, said to a bystander "Why, you have very heavy thunder here." "Well, yos," replied the map, "we pu, considering the num-ber of inhabitants." As A lawyer not a thousand miles off, got into a war of words with another member of the bar, and knocking him down at last, remarked:

"!'ll make you behave like a gentleman, you scoundrel!"

"No you won't" cried the other—"No, never! I defy you—you can't do it." "Mike, why don't you fire at those ducks, boy don't you see you have got the whole flock before your gun?"

A clergyman, catechising the youth of his church, put the first question from a chatechism to a girl: "What is your consolation in life and death?" The girl smiled, but did not answer. The clergyman insisted. 'Well, then," said she, "since I must tell. It is a young printer named M—, in H——Street."

A farmer was elected constable, and the old woman and children gathered around him. The children commenced squalling to their mother: "Mother, mother, are we all constables?" "No, No, children—none but your father and I."

The following article was read by William Parry, of Cinnaminson, N. J., before the Fruit Growers' Club, of New York City, July 30, 1868:

"The cultivation of this fruit for market was greatly stimulated by the introduction of the New Rochelle berry, about a third of a century since, and perhaps no person has contributed more than William Lawton, whose name it mostly bears, toward calling public attention to the importance of the extensive culture of this fruit. Its large size, great productive-ness, and other good qualities, surpassing any other variety then known, made it very popular among fruit growers, and its very popular among fruit growers farmers raised more bushels of blackberries than of corn or wheat. The blackberry occupies an important position in the list of small fruits, commencing to ripen close upon the season of the rasp berry, and before peaches and grapes .-Its easy culture, hardiness, and the high price at which the fruit sells, make it one of the most profitable crops to grow. CHURCH VACATIONS.

The following, signed CARONDELET from the Nashville Christian Advocate, is believed to be from the pen of A. Watson Atwood, Esq., of Philadelphia: As to the Methodist churches in Philadelphia, they are generally falling into other denominations. The inroad, because it is of a small beginning, need be none the less dangerous. I do not suppose there are six Presbyterian churches open for worship in all of July or August-so is it with the Episcopalians, Baptists, Reformed, and others, and so is it getting to be in the Methodist; and the movement is gaining firmness in this way. Churches need repairing; of course, like everything else, they, too, will wear out. Ministers' throats are worn away through excessive labor, and the church, therefore, must have recuperation. Accordingly the scaffolding is coming large and rank, and producing closed, and the people turned away; the erected about the building, the doors are pastor rushes out of the city, and is away for a month and a half. It was the strongest point he raised in a sermon on "The Love of God." He said. "Do you suppose, my hearers, that the orthodox Church believe in an eternal hell? Not a bit of it. Would they close their churches and meeting-houses for that perhaps a feeble exertion on their part would snatch one soul from a neverending hell? Could a man hall a fellow-creature, the soil or daughter of his best-beloved Church-member-could a man believe that son or daughter was going to an eternal hell, and yet the preacher bask listlessly beneath a shady oak of a country residence, or pick up shells on the beach of an inviting ocean Why, one word would snatch him from the brink, one hour's communion would make angels rejoice! Why does he not stay and work, work, work, for the eternal salvation of his fellow-men? I tell you, they do not believe in an eternal damna. Can any one blame Dr. ____for preaching what he earnestly believed to be the truth? Is not the argument a good one from a Universalist stand-point? Surely if a minister were fully impressed with

I do not know whether he ought to expect any. He should by all means have a recreation, and that, too, in the hot summer months; but then that recreation could be fully secured in a change of base, but not in a change of labor. His rest should be the rest of the future, his recreation winning the souls of men away from their idols. If he be at a watering ripened the fall previous, and had stood selecting and propagating new seedling place, that place should only be his city worship exchanged, and his labors ought to be unceasing for the cause of his Master. His city church need not be closed for repairs; or if indeed there be no legerdemain about it, and the building does actually require attention, then let another place of worship be secured—a stop its revolution. If the health of the pastor actually requires recuperation, do

THE ELECTIONS. Tuesday of this week was a day of the most intense excitement in three of the largest and most important States in the Union-Pennsylvania, Illinois and Indiana. Uupon the complexion of the election results in these States might be fairly predicted the likelihoods of the efforts of November, and consequently everything that could be done, legitimate and illegitimate, to secure political victory, has been attempted. Philadelphia, particularly, has been the scene of the most enormous frauds attended with the connivance of some of the legal authorities, that modern times has known. Thousands, if not tens of thousands of fraudulent naturalization papers were issued, and so openly was this done that these papers were discovered all over the contiguous country, in the possession of different persons, all properly signed and bearing the broad seal of the supreme court, to be filled up with the name of any rascal who might be willing for a sufficient bribe to violate the law by voting when he had no right to. The bystanders of both parties were intensely amused at this display of even handed justice, and laughed and cheered the whole proceedings, much to the disgust of the blatant patriots who were marching to prison as martyrs to the liberty of disticuss.
